Dear Colonel Cuta:

Thank you very much for sending me the news coverage on my talk in Columbus. I enjoyed doing it and was glad to have the opportunity to get out and see the great work you are doing. I agree with you about Dr. Bonaer. He is terrific.

With every good wish,

Faithfully,

Dear General Walters:

Again, I want to express thanks for your finding time to come to Columbus and speak before our distinguished organizations. You were in a conservative city that was impressed with your enlightening presentation.

I have inclosed a copy of The Ohio State University Lantern which provided considerable column space to your presentation as you can see. This paper has usually been more critical of the federal government departments in the past; however, the mild tenor of this article is not indicative of past coverage. Also inclosed is a section of The Columbus Citizen-Journal which also contains an article on your presentation.

An important aspect associated with your visit is that it enhanced the service image here -- primarily the Army. And, while I'm on the subject of the Army, may I bring out that Dr. John T. Bonner, Jr., who is my boss here at the University, is a tremendous supporter of the military establishment. In fact, it is said that if it had not been for him, ROTC quite likely would not be on the Ohio State campus now. He took a lot of flack in supporting the program during the late 1960's when the going was rough. He is the most active civilian I know in the area who speaks up for the military establishment, primarily the Army. He is a real patriot.

In closing, may I state that we are behind you 100 percent, sir.

Respectfully,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "W. W. Cuta", is written over a large, stylized flourish.
